In a recent case which appeared before the probate court the testator had made the will himself and failed to sign it in the presence of two witnesses, on account of which the will cannot be followed as it is contrary to the clear reading of the law, and should it be followed could be easily overthrown. "I wish to impress upon people that a will must be signed in the presence of two witnesses," said Judge Gray yesterday. "If people would follow this advice it would do away with a great deal of trouble and relieve the anxiety of those who think the probate court can do everything. The court has the clear letter of the law to follow and under no condition can it deviate from it, even though the matter may appear just and right and require a 'little fixing' to make it all right. The time to do the fixing is when the instrument is drawn."

Speaking of dogs, George Coffman has one. He is just a mite larger than a weiner but he is a terror. He bears the name of Tip and he is a tip from way back. If the Boers, or English, or Filipinos had Tip's "nerve" the war would soon be ended. He will fight anything and fight to a finish. He doesn't know what defeat means. He took up with Fred Munson for a few days and "freed" a rat in Fred's closet. Fred thought it was a mistake and decided to drive Tip out. He didn't know Tip's reputation. The dog made for him, and after biting him several times to the second Fred retired in haste. The only thing that makes Tip worthy of mention is his nerve. Although the most diminutive specimen of a dog in the city he has never yet met anything too large to attack. He only weighs a few pounds, but he would attack an ox or lion as quickly as a rat. Owing to his unknown pedigree he will not be taken to the dog show.

Another good house greeted the Coolidge Company in "Knight of the Mask," a stirring romantic drama dealing with the adventures of a bold highwayman in merry England. The comedy element is strong and the costumes beautiful. Mr. Cooley appeared as Cleveus, the outlaw, and carried the role with a dash and swing refreshing to the audience. Terry McKean had a longer part than previous nights and is gradually impressing his friends with his ability to play different characters in a different manner. Miss Gladys Kingsbury looked charming in her old-fashioned gown and white court wig, and charmed all with her dainty acting. Mr. Graves and Wm. McGraw rendered valuable assistance in their respective roles. The play probably pleased somewhat better than "The Mouth of the Cannon," and tonight we are promised a treat. Miss Kingsbury is said to be an excellent cigarette, and Terry McKean appears as Rake, the friend of Cecil. "Tip Van Winkle" will be the attraction at the Saturday matinee.

At the session of the Board of Fish Commissioners 16 petitions from various sections along the Columbia River were presented, asking that the river be closed to salmon fishing above the Cascades for these reasons: First, the river above that point is the natural spawning ground for salmon; second, the river is so narrow that the gear used is so destructive that the fish have no chance to escape before they get to the spawning ground. The petition was urged by the Columbia River Fishermen's Protective Union, and came from Astoria, Quincy, Roseburg, Albany, Silverton, Harrison, Seaside, Portland, Forest Grove, Eugene, Gold Hill, Lebanon and Lookingglass. Two petitions were sent from Portland, Astoria and Albany, the largest of which was Astoria and had 236 signers. Master Fish Warden Van Dusen, in behalf of the board, replied to the union that as the Columbia river was the boundary between Oregon and Washington, the matter presented legal questions that would require the services of the attorney general, who is now confined to his home by sickness, but as soon as he recovered the board would give the matter its immediate attention.

The fire department had some practice yesterday morning when the alarm was rung in for a chimney fire at Mrs. Grant's house on Commercial street. It was only practice in running, for fires are not long lived in this city now days. A large crowd rushed to the scene, as an alarm is so uncommon that people almost forget what it means. Astoria holds the record as being a city of few fires, while the fire department holds the record as being the swiftest in the Northwest. This fact is a source of gratitude to property owners and of pride to Chief Stockton, who has placed the department where it is. The boys all take pride in keeping the record up and Driver Cordes, of the chemical, thinks as much of his engine as anything else in the world. He goes over it every day, giving it a bright polish and looking glasses are not needed in the building.

Grand Deputy C. G. Winfield, of the order of Macabees, reports great activity in local Gateway Tent No. 33. He says 40 members have been added within the past month, and 10 more are on the road. The untiring work of the deputy has caused the results.

Nearly every street light in the city was out for some reason last night. It was out for some reason last night. It greatly inconvenienced pedestrians who were compelled to be up late, and several serious accidents were narrowly averted.

One of the frequent visitors to the court house said yesterday that he always felt like drinking water when he got along to the faucet in the hallway, because by some peculiar combination the rush of water has a sizzle like a soda fountain or something else that sounds that way.

Chief Stockton, of the fire department, is among the prominent dog owners of this city. He has a fine Irish setter which he intended to take to the Portland dog show, but had to abandon the idea on account of official duties. The dog is young and, untrained, but is a beauty and very intelligent. His mother bears a record as a prize-winner.

The golden opportunities are slipping fast away, the time is now so brief you may no more delay. At Morse's great department store, the cheapest store in town the goods are sold at half their price, so low are prices down. But three days more the sale will last, where everybody buys. Go sure today and take your choice; they are cheap and just your size.

Last night, when the county clerk's office closed, the registration numbered only 1069, distributed in the various precincts as follows: Astoria No. 1, 61; Astoria No. 2, 106; Astoria No. 3, 125; Astoria No. 4, 130; Astoria No. 5, 135; Astoria No. 6, 60; Astoria No. 7, 42; John Day, 15; Svensen, 14; Walluski, 19; New Astoria, 70; Warrenton, 9; Clatsop, 15; Seaside, 77; Melville, 7; Chadwell, 25; Youngs River, 15; Olney, 25; Knappa, 16; Clifton, 4; Westport, 39; Vesper, 10; Jewell, 11; Mishawaka, 19; Elsie, 16; Push, 4. Total, 1069.

Master Fish Warden Van Dusen recently received a letter from Tillamook citizens asking him to visit that section to see if something cannot be done in regard to the Chinook salmon in the rivers of that section. Tillamook and Kiches Rivers were once full of Chinook, but today they are scarce because someone does not follow the real meaning of the law. A deputy warden is desired there to see that the fish are protected. The warden intends to visit that section as soon as the rush of business now on hand is over and look over the Wilson river spawning ground.

PUSH CLUB MEETING.

Sentiment Favorable for New York Commercial Proposition.

There was not a large number present at the Push Club meeting last evening but what were there were full of push and energy. The bad condition of the weather and the prevalence of political aroma in the air, which somehow always effect our citizens, combined to keep many away who otherwise would have been there.

A communication was received from Mrs. Mary H. Elmore, president of the Woman's Club of Astoria, asking for a conference on matters pertaining to civic improvement and referred to the special committee. A letter was also received from Senator Mitchell acknowledging the receipt of the communication from the club that it had endorsed his Chinese exclusion bill and expressing his appreciation of the same was received.

The Columbia bar pilots sent in a communication requesting the senators and representatives in Congress from Oregon and Washington to secure a special appropriation for an ocean dredge for the bar, was referred to the committee on navigation. A letter from P. E. Kendall, of San Francisco, in regard to the matter of inviting the timbermen to visit Astoria at the time of their excursion to San Francisco, he said he would take the matter up with the club when he visited here in the near future.

The navigation committee reported that it had taken up the matter of changing the time table with the superintendent of the Astoria & Columbia River railroad and found it to be impracticable to make a change; it further reported that the freight rates would be taken up at an early date.

Agent Troode, of the New York Commercial was present, urging the matter of the City of Astoria advertising in the paper he represented. He showed to the members where it would be beneficial to the city to have an advertisement in the paper and the benefits derived therefrom. The meeting passed the following resolution in regard to the matter:

Resolved, That the association endorse the proposal of the New York Commercial and the City of Astoria secure advertising space in that paper and so earn the appointment of a correspondent for this city who shall forward all matter of commercial and industrial interest for publication in that paper.

It was also voted that the committee on printing and advertising assist Mr. Trood in securing the necessary subscription from the business men to pay for the required space.

Oswell West was voted membership to the club.

Ruddy, Clear Faces are Indications of Spring Health.

Paine's Celery Compound

Makes Pure, Red Blood and Establishes a New and Vigorous Vitality.

Men and women who have used Paine's Celery Compound, and all who have a knowledge of the wonderful cures it has wrought, particularly in springtime, unite in declaring that the great medicine is a national blessing.

The use of Paine's Celery Compound at this season by the weak, nervous, sleepless and those afflicted with rheumatism, neuralgia, dyspepsia, liver trouble, kidney disease, and impure and poisoned blood, means pure, red blood, perfect digestive vigor, ruddy, clear faces, renewed strength and permanent health.

Thousands of grateful people have sent in unsolicited letters testifying to cures made by Paine's Celery Compound after the failures of doctors and use of other medicines. The wealthy and poor the noted and famous of our large cities and the quiet people of our rural districts have sent the glad news that at last they have found a remedy (Paine's Celery Compound) that has restored lost vitality and made themselves again.

No proof of that efficacy of Paine's Celery Compound as a blood purifier and renovator can be more conclusive or forcible than the strong testimony offered by Mr. Ira Williams, of Jamestown, N. Y., one of the most popular travelling salesmen on the road. Mr. Williams says:

"It is now about eight years since I used Paine's Celery Compound, and cleared my system of impurities from which I suffered severely, on account of a breaking out all over my head and part of my body. I spent hundreds of dollars in employing the best physicians, but they could do nothing for me. By the use of your wonderful medicine my recovery was complete. I am a travelling salesman on the road most of the time, and sincerely believe that I have helped thousands of others by my personal testimony as to the wonderful curative properties of Paine's Celery Compound. It certainly merits its wonderful success, and it gives me great pleasure to say so."
